

Assignment No.3

Given a set T of n computational jobs, where each job $i \in T$ has a fixed start time $s(i)$ and finish time $f(i)$. The objective is to schedule all the jobs using as few machines as possible. You are supposed to implement a greedy algorithm which schedules jobs in the increasing order of their start time and never allocates a new machine to a job unless it is unavoidable.